

Germans know where they're going

Leseempfehlung The Independent: „How the language you speak changes your view of the world“. (Original-Artikel)

The worldview assumed by German speakers is a holistic one – they tend to look at the event as a whole – whereas English speakers tend to zoom in on the event and focus only on the action.