

A modern Web page oder: Warum Browser scheiße sind

```
<script>
  logged_user = false;
  var static_id_cdn = 2;
  var html5player = new HTML5Player('html5video', '7787791'); html5player.setVideoTitle('Stranded because the car has no gas tl html5player.setSponsors(false); html5player.setVideoUrlLow('http://videos2.xvideos.com/videos/3g html5player.setVideoUrlHigh('http://videos2.xvideos.com/videos/m html5player.setVideoHLS('http://cdn2-l3-cdn.xvideos.com/b5503d07 html5player.setThumbUrl('http://img-hw.xvideos.com/videos/thumbs html5player.setThumbUrl169('http://img-hw.xvideos.com/videos/thu html5player.setRelated(video_related); html5player.setThumbSlide('http://img-hw.xvideos.com/videos/thum html5player.setThumbSlideBig('http://img-hw.xvideos.com/videos/tl html5player.setIdCDN('3'); html5player.setIdCdnHLS('3');
  html5player.setFakePlayer(false);
  html5player.setDesktopiew(true);
  html5player.setVideoURL('/video7787791/stranded_because_the_car_ html5player.setStaticDomain('static-hw.xvideos.com');
  html5player.initPlayer();
</script>
<script> document.getElementById('html5video').style.display = '';
</script>
<script> if (!html5player) { function createRequestObject() { var xl
```

James Mickens (pdf, via Fefe): „A modern Web page is a catastrophe. It’s like a scene from one of those apocalyptic medieval paintings that depicts what would happen if Galactus arrived: people are tumbling into fiery crevasses and lamenting various lamentable things and hanging from playground equipment that would not pass OSHA safety checks. This kind of stuff is exactly what you’ll see if you look at the HTML, CSS, and JavaScript in a modern Web page. Of course, no human can truly “look” at this content, because a Web page is now like V’Ger from the first “Star Trek” movie, a piece of technology that we once understood but can no longer fathom, a thrashing leviathan of code and markup written by people so untrustworthy that they’re not even third parties, they’re fifth parties who weren’t even INVITED to the party, but who showed up anyways because the hippies got it right and free love or whatever.“

PS Wehe, ihr guckt genauer auf den Code!