

Was sonst noch so geschah...

– Terry Jones, die Mutter des Brian, ist gestorben. Er wird genau so unsterblich und inspirierend sein für andere wie Buster Keaton.

– The Guardian: „Greenwald charges are ‘existential threat’ to journalism in Brazil, says Edward Snowden.“ (Ich vermute, dass die deutschen Medien alles vom Guardian übernommen und umgeschrieben haben.)

„Prosecutors claimed on Tuesday that Greenwald, 52, helped, encouraged and guided, a group of hackers who obtained phone messages between key figures in a sweeping Brazilian anti-corruption investigation.“

– Die BBC schildert die Situation auf den ägäischen Inseln: „Greece migrant crisis: Islanders strike over crowded camps“.

„North Aegean Regional Governor Kostas Moutzouris said on Wednesday he was „annoyed“ that Greek islands had been „turned into places of concentration and detention“ for thousands of people around the world.“

– The New York Times: „Leaders in Israel to Mark 75 Years Since Auschwitz Liberation. Jerusalem is hosting the largest political gathering in its history, as monarchs, presidents and premiers arrive to speak out against the rise of anti-Semitism and commemorate the Holocaust.“ Der deutsche Bundespräsident ist auch dort.
